Good News!

February 4, 2024
Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)
Job 7:1-4, 6-7 / 1 Corinthians 9:16-19, 22-23 /
Mark 1:29-39

FR. JOSEPH JUKNIALIS

At some point in one's faith journey, every believer asks: If God is good and loving, why is there evil in the world? Why is there war? Why do children die prematurely? Why do pandemics rage? The biblical story of Job seeks to speak to that question, though it never really answers it.

God and the satan (the name he is called in the Book of Job) are discussing Job and what a fine man he is. The satan suggests Job is a good man only because everything is going well for him. God then tells the satan that he may do whatever he wishes to test Job but may not harm him. By a series of catastrophes, then, Job loses his flocks, his camels, and even his sons and daughters. It is at this point that we hear today's first Scripture reading—Job's lament of misery and hopelessness.

Though Job's friends suspect that the cause of all that has befallen him must be due to some grave sin on his part, Job denies this accusation and continues believing in the goodness of God, never wavering in his faith. Though frustrated by what life has brought, Job never blames God or asks God to fix his life. God is God, concludes Job, whether we understand the ways of life or not. To seek any more is to seek to be God. He continues to trust in God and admits that the ways of God are incapable of being understood. This becomes Job's only answer to the question about the “why” of evil. ●

In “Laudate Deum” (Praise God) Pope Francis challenges the U.S. and the world in new climate change document

Pope Francis challenged world leaders to commit to binding targets to slow climate change before it's too late, warning that God's increasingly warming creation is fast reaching a “point of no return.”

Pope Francis delivered a moral imperative for the world to transition away from fossil fuels to clean energy with measures that are “efficient, obligatory and readily monitored.” He said “what is being asked of us is nothing other than a certain responsibility for the legacy we will leave behind once we pass from this world.”

How can we meet our moral imperative to leave behind a better world now and in the future?
