This year spring seems to be very slow in arriving. And after four nor’easter storms, we have had our quota of snowfall as well. But signs of spring are now beginning to appear and with them Easter Sunday. There are the traditional signs of new life such as colored eggs, baby chicks, and chocolate bunnies. Moreover, Easter does not have to compete so much with the commercial world in comparison to Christmas; it remains a religious holiday.

In celebrating the death-defeating victory of Jesus in his resurrection from the grave on Easter Sunday, we see in our own future a share in that victory. This truth takes away the sting of death and gives us reason to be hopeful. And not just for ourselves but for our loved ones who have gone before us.

Years ago people would typically say that a friend or relative had “passed away.” Today you are more likely to hear the single word “passed.” In a sense that single word expresses more clearly our belief in life after death. A person we know and love has “passed” from this world to the next. They have not completely disappeared or become extinct or gone away forever. And it is our fervent hope that we will be joined with our loved ones in the kingdom of heaven some day.

There are those who would suggest that the afterlife is nothing more than a hoax, a fiction meant to bring comfort to the bereaved. And there is no doubt that ultimately only our faith can bring us beyond the veil of death to see the glory that is to come. That is why we really do depend on each other to weather the storms of doubt and grief that come when we lose a loved one. Often at that moment the deeper questions arise within us about the afterlife; at that moment our faith can really be tested. For good reason we look to each other as people of faith to bring comfort and reassurance, to give witness by our words and deeds that Jesus is truly risen and that someday each of us will share in the Lord’s promise of life eternal.

No doubt before next Easter death will visit us in some form or another – perhaps even our own death. No one can refute that. Yet in celebrating this Easter Sunday and gathering every Sunday – which is really a little Easter- we declare the ultimate truth of our faith. And in song the church resounds with the Eucharistic acclamation, “We proclaim your death, O Lord, and profess your resurrection until you come again.”

EasterGreetings

Easter Prayers

Creative God and Lord of life, you who call forth from the darkness of death all those who love you, we rejoice, on this Easter Sunday, in the Resurrection from the dead of our Lord, Jesus Christ.
Visit our home and this table with your bright blessing of peace and life.
We pause in the midst of this prayer to remember all the holy dead of our family who live now in you and who await the final and glorious resurrection of the dead.
May they and we, because of our faith in you, our God, taste in the victory of life over death.
May the Risen Christ, our Lord and Savior, be our guest as we celebrate his Resurrection with this Easter Sunday dinner.
Bless those whose work to prepare this meal has truly been a work of prayer, and bless all of us who shall share it with Easter love and joy.
May you then bless this table and this food, and each of us in your holy name:
Father, Son and Holy Spirit.
Amen.

Easter Message from Bishop Barres

Dear Friends:

Truly the Lord is risen! He is risen indeed!

Today we speak these words which echo back to the first days of Christ’s resurrection. After walking with Christ on the road to Calvary, we now joyfully go forth as the disciples did on the road to Emmaus with hearts burning within us. We celebrate the moment when Christ conquered death and gave us all hope of new life.

Even after nearly 2,000 years, that moment of the Resurrection has not lost any of its power. While myths and stories eventually fade, we celebrate a historical fact, a living Person who left behind lasting evidence of his wonders, evidence that the world still seeks to understand.

This is especially true today, as we find ourselves in an historic moment—archeologists have uncovered the site of Jesus’ resurrection for the first time in nearly 500 years. Within the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, scholars have restored and conducted research on the tomb of Jesus, also known as the Aedicule. Preliminary findings confirm that the heart of the structure is the same tomb that Roman Christians discovered and venerated as early as 326AD.

These findings offer us a great source of confidence in our faith. Scientific progress, rather than finding evidence against what we believe, through missionary archeology has given us a stronger connection with the place of Christ’s burial and resurrection. Further, it provides a powerful image as we reflect upon our own spiritual lives this Easter.

In its 2,000-year history, Christ’s tomb has endured many trials. It was covered over by slabs of stone, it withstood earthquakes, fires and the destruction of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, and many believed it had been lost. So too the life of Christ in our hearts can experience highs and lows—it may be covered over with our worries and concerns, it may be jeopardized in times of doubt and confusion, or we may even believe it has faded away.

Yet just as archeologists have opened up this holy site today, we are called this Easter to open our hearts once again to the power of Christ’s love and mercy. We are called to remove the barriers from our hearts and allow Christ’s glorified wounds to touch our wounds and the wounds of all humanity.

We profoundly experience this reality at the Easter Vigil. In the darkness of the night and in the darkness of our lives, the light of Christ is ignited. Beginning with the Paschal candle, that light is passed on from person to person until the Church is made radiant. The darkness in our hearts is dispelled, and even more beautifully, it is dispelled by the light that is shared by our brothers and sisters in faith. We see in a deeply moving way that Christ’s light is spread by each of us who carry him with us. In that moment of unity and love, as the Exsultet proclaims, the Church shakes with joy.
Garden Ministry needs your strength for Grounds Cleanup at 9 a.m. on Saturday April 7th. In addition to our usual litter cleanup, four Nor’easters have brought down many branches and it will take many hands to clear that away.

We welcome all volunteers with work gloves and a rake to join us. Confirmation candidates are joyously welcomed to share their youth and strength in this effort.

Thank you for participating in the discernment process for members of Good Shepherd’s Parish Pastoral Council.
First Communion is one of the three sacraments of initiation. The process of preparation for 1st Communion is our opportunity to help children to form strong life long habits as Catholics.

Initiating people into the faith community is a major focus of parish life.

It is at liturgy that children see and experience the faith of the parish community. The full, conscious and active participation of all the faithful forms them to live out the true Christian spirit. All of our liturgies need to express the strong Catholic faith of our people who live to worship God with thanksgiving in their hearts.

On the weekends of April 7/8, 14/15 and 21/22 and 29 our youngsters will be celebrating their First Communion at the 5PM Mass on Saturdays and at the 10AM and 12Noon Masses on Sunday.

Please welcome them as they come to the Table of the Lord.

Let us pray for each child:

“May you always know the peace of Jesus, the light of His love, and the joy of His life within you.”
