Are We Moving Forward or Backward?

This past Wednesday, April 4, marked the 50th Anniversary of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. To honor him and his fight for racial justice, Bishop Barres has issued a pastoral letter which you will find inserted in this bulletin.

The assassination of Dr. King took place at the Lorraine Motel in Memphis, a black owned facility where he was staying in order to give support to the striking sanitation workers who were marching for fair treatment in the workplace and a decent wage. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voter Rights Act of 1965 were signs of hope that racial justice would stem the tide of racism that existed before and after the Civil War. One hundred years since that conflict which tore the country apart over the issue of slavery, the evil of racism still festered in our country. Martin Luther King knew that and was determined to engage in peaceful protest even at the risk of his own life. That is what brought him to Memphis on that fateful day.

My sister lives outside of Memphis, and I have had the opportunity to visit the National Civil Rights Museum which incorporates the motel where King was assassinated in that city. The museum traces the history of African-American life from the time of colonial slavery to the death of Dr. King in 1968. Over the 50 years since then, there has been progress but Martin Luther King would concede that we have not yet reached the promised land of racial justice and harmony. The large number of black youths and adults incarcerated, the incidents of shootings of unarmed black youths, and the recent rise of white supremacies all point to the need to move forward not backward in achieving equality and justice for every member of our society.

In his pastoral letter, Bishop Barres states, We do not simply mark the anniversary of the death of Dr. King for its historical significance. His example compels us to act in our own time and place. We must examine our consciences as individuals, as a church, and as a society asking for healing of our past sins against the sacredness of human life and our failures to recognize the dignity of others who are made in the image and likeness of God.

The dream of racial equality that Martin Luther King embraced has yet to be fulfilled. It remains the task of this generation and future generations inspired by his vision and self-sacrifice.

Easter Collection

To keep the parish financially sound we not only count on the weekly Sunday Collection but also those special collections on Christmas and Easter. Those collections help us to meet the on-going and extraordinary expenses we face. As one example, this year our costs for snow plowing alone amounted to $10,500. Thank you for the financial support you offer to Good Shepherd at Easter and throughout the year. The total will be posted in next week’s bulletin.

On the evening of the first Easter, the disciples were together with the doors locked. Suddenly, Jesus was in the room with them! What did He say?

Jesus is the Son of God.

Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed.
A week later, Jesus came again. This time, Thomas was there. He said to Jesus, "My Lord and my God!"

Believe! Believe! Believe?

But Thomas was not there when Jesus came. The other disciples told him, "We have seen the Lord!" But he did not believe them.

Five years ago, on March 13, 2013, white smoke rose from the chimney of the Sistine Chapel, signifying his election to the papacy by a two-thirds majority of cardinal electors. To mark his fifth anniversary as Holy Father, let’s take a look at some interesting facts about Pope Francis. This article can be found online at licatholic.org. In the search box type Pope Francis.

Did you know?

- Pope Francis had lung surgery as a teen, and today has only one functioning lung. In spite of that, he is in excellent health at 81 years old.
- He is multi-lingual, speaking Spanish, Latin and Italian fluently, and understands and speaks some German, French, Portuguese, English and Ukranian.
- He is the only pope to ever address a joint session of the U.S. Congress.
- A true Argentinian, Pope Francis loves the tango. And wine.
- He loves the works of J.R.R. Tolkien.
- In the 1960s, he taught literature, philosophy, psychology, and theology at several high schools in Argentina.
- He hasn’t watched television since 1990, and relies on the Swiss Guard to keep him up to date on soccer scores from his beloved San Lorenzo team from Argentina.
- He misses the opportunity to walk through the city to a favorite pizzeria to enjoy a slice, saying delivery just isn’t the same.
- Rumor has it that he makes awesome paella.
- When a small child came onto the stage to hug him during an important Mass, Pope Francis would not let security remove the child. Instead, the pope welcomed the child, and offered the child a seat in a chair.
- Pope Francis often leaves the Vatican at night to help the homeless.
- He auctioned his Harley Davidson to benefit the homeless.
- The Pope obliges everyone who wants him in their selfies!
- Pope Francis opts for simple – often used – cars to travel around, even on major foreign visits, instead of limousines.
- He celebrated Holy Thursday Mass of the Last Supper in the chapel of a prison and kissed the feet of the prisoners as he washed them.
- He was the first major leader of a world religion to appear on Rolling Stone magazine’s cover.
- Writing of the pros and cons of the digital age, and its implications for Catholics when interacting with people from different faiths and backgrounds, Pope Francis referred to the internet as a “gift from God.”
- He says that Catholic beliefs are consistent with evolution and the Big Bang theory.
