FATHER KEN'S CORNER

Dear Brothers and Sisters of the Parish of the Good Shepherd,

We approach Veterans Day – Friday November 11th. This day commemorates the end of World War One when the peace armistice was signed on the 11th day of the 11th month at the 11th hour. It is right and just that we should remember with both honor and dignity all those who have fought in defense of this country and in defense of the ideals of freedom, justice and liberty.

Every so often we may meet a military veteran – either now a civilian or on active duty - and thank them for their service. Through documentaries and pictures, we can easily recall the victory parades at the end of both world wars. There was a euphoria for all these veterans returning home safely amid the thousands of servicemen and women who lost their lives. Yet we know in our own lifetime it would not always be this way. The veterans of the Korean War (called a police action) did not receive the same acclaim of their previous brothers and sisters when they returned home, although belatedly their sufferings were recognized (in a humorous way) in the movie and television series MASH. Those who fought in the Viet Nam War were not honored as they indeed did deserve. Sadly, many veterans of that unpopular action were jeered and denigrated; a number even hide the fact of their service. The day of 9/11/01 and the aftermath of American actions in answer to this tragedy have brought the call of additional citizens to serve under fire.

As we pause to recognize these men and women who served in combat all too often in the past 60 years, you and I who have not been in harm's way truly have little understanding of the rigors they endured and sacrifices they've made for all in this country. These loyal and dedicated Americans returned home with both physical and psychological injuries, many of which they still suffer with today. All too many of these brave veterans have not received the best treatment our hospitals could offer and sorrowfully many have taken their own lives because of the deep traumas they could not confront alone or with those who wanted to help.

Nonetheless, when they did serve, they did not ask if they were fighting for members of the democratic or republican parties. They did not wonder if their service would bring benefit to those who held a conservative or liberal stance. They did not inquire whether constitutional progressives or traditionalists would politicize the orders given by their commanders. When they fought, neither were they concerned with race, religion or sexual orientation. When they were wounded and killed it was not for our elected representatives in Washington, but for their families, their comrades and for you and me. They were drafted or they volunteered to serve and protect the people and the ideals of these United States of America, the UNITED states. I wonder how many veterans sadly shake their heads when they see the deep divisions in our country today. Perhaps, this is a present political reality, but political violence, now often in the news wasn't even a glimmer of a possibility when I studied government and politics at St. John's University in the seventies (showing how old I truly am!).

I speak of these men and women veterans with great thankfulness because this past Tuesday was Election Day. It is they who helped guarantee the four-fold freedoms of speech, religion, to vote and to bear arms. As I write this column in advance for publication purposes, I have no idea whether we've experienced any kind of political violence that some newscasters have thought possible. I do hope and pray ahead if time that those who have won have done so graciously and those who have lost will also concede graciously to the will of the voters without wild claims of voter fraud, intimidation, and manipulation of election results. At this time when we look forward to giving thanks to Almighty God for all the many blessings bestowed upon our country – I pray that we all may be UNITED in praying and saying GOD BLESS AMERICA and God Bless with wisdom and prudence, justice and compassion those ELECTED TO SERVE US in public office.

Thirty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time (C)
Mal 3:19-20a; 2 Thes 3:7-12; Lk 21:5-19

Who does not get excited when they know that the day is coming? Which day? A wedding day, the birth of a child, the last day of school, the first day of retirement. We all look forward to special days.

Ancient Israel looked forward to the day of the Lord, that day when everything would be set right. Enemies would be scattered, the sick would be healed, the poor would know comfort, and all people would experience peace. Even though Israel had suffered terribly, God had made promises to their ancestors, and God always keeps promises. Initially, they expected that day to be one of punishment and retribution for their enemies, while they would enjoy vindication and blessing. Today's first reading asserts that Israel will enjoy no preference. If they sin, they also will face the righteous anger of God.

In the Gospel passage, Jesus describes the terrifying events that will precede the destruction of the temple. This was probably less a prophecy of a future event than it was a warning of the suffering they might have to endure as his followers. Such suffering would pave the way for the fearful day of the Lord. If they persevere, such affliction would be purifying for them rather than punishing. Though the reading does not include mention of the day of the Lord, it would have been in the minds of those who heard Jesus' words. Many would believe that God's ancient promises were about to be fulfilled.
